Dear [redacted]

I am writing to follow up once again to note a further flash flooding incident in Worton on the evening of 15 January 2026.

This latest event reinforces our ongoing concerns that the flooding risks along Yarnton Road, near Cassington, remain both acute and unresolved.

Despite repeated representations, it is deeply concerning that neither the developer, relevant authorities nor the Inspectorate appear to have taken proper account of the cumulative impact of these incidents.

In this context, the proposed solar farm would very likely prove to be the straw that breaks the donkey's back in an already highly vulnerable drainage system.

The continued lack of engagement with these real, observed conditions on the ground is troubling, particularly given the clear evidence that flooding is occurring under existing circumstances.

Yours sincerely,
Bo Ivanovic
