Sunnica Sola Farm EN010106

Dear Inspectorate,

I write regarding the quality of the land within the proposed Sunnica sola farm site.

As a self-employed contractor in farming and having worked much of the land in question, I must strongly disagree with the sunnica statement, which describes the land of being poor quality.

The land produces a good quality root-crop and cereal. Yields which the respective farmer was very happy with. The country can't afford to lose this valuable agricultural land.

As Sunnica's soil report differs so greatly to the 3 independent soil reports taken from neighbouring farms. I feel that a second independent soil report should be carried out on the Sunnica land to give a clearer picture of the site.

Natural England and the 3 independent soil experts reports all conclude that the land is at least 50% BMV, but Sunnica says that it is only 3.8% BMV. Surely to big a difference to ignore.

Yours sincerely

Ian Garget
