We confirm receipt of the stage 3, in line with the previously agreed timetable, of the staged applications for the Riverside Decarbonisation Project.

You should read this email carefully as it includes important information about how the staged application process will work. If you have any questions or want to withdraw your application or use the normal application procedure, please let know as soon as possible.

Billing information

The staged application will be charged on a time and materials basis. We will charge £100 an hour.

We will be in touch with you throughout the process and we will send you invoices regularly. We will also send you regular estimates of the costs likely to be incurred for the next month.

If you do not pay these charges promptly this will result in a delay to your applications and could result in the application being not duly made or refused. You must pay all charges before your application is determined. If you no longer wish to continue with your application, you can let us know by contacting us in writing. Once we have started assessing your application, you will need to pay for any time we spend on it, regardless of the outcome. You should be confident that you can meet these commitments before proceeding any further.

Sharing information

We normally put all the information in an application on a public register of environmental information once it has been duly made. Where you consider information to be commercially or industrially confidential or a threat to national security you must make this clear and provide the information requested in question 4 of application form F1.

We will assess any requests for exclusion from the public register at duly making, however we may receive Freedom of Information requests/Environmental Information Regulations requests for information before then. If you consider any information confidential you need to provide reasons for exception to disclosure, and we will assess these at the time any request is received.

What happens next?

We have now received stage 3 which is the final stage. We will let you know as soon as we can if we need any further information to duly make the applications.

Yours sincerely

Principal Permitting Officer
