

STOP + THINK! This project is too large and taking up too much good farm land. There are already many large installations, which you need to watch and learn from before embarking on further developments, which would be extremely costly to remove, if proven to be not cost effective in years to come.