Due to the late publication of so many submissions and failure by the ExA to extend deadlines I believe the ExA are failing in their duty to hold a due and fair inspection process.

The examination timetable was already really condensed when compared to other NSIP projects and now the continued failure to promptly publish submissions and responses to submissions is in effect removing part of the process and denying people the opportunity to read and respond before the examination period closes

I would like my complaint acknowledged and put on record

Yours
