

are all the wildfires in fields (destroyed crops lost food supplies) and gas pipes being further under threat from them not a sensible reason for government to reconsider putting so many of our fields under solar panels ?