I am sending this email as a dispirited local resident. I live [REDACTED]. I hold out little prospect of success in objecting to this application as I anticipate my personal well-being will be immaterial to a distant Secretary of State who will at best see making my life miserable a necessary evil in support of a very blunt and gross national energy policy. My objections relate to:

1. The huge scale of the development which is likely to change my living environment for the rest of my lifetime – destroying my quiet enjoyment of my neighbourhood – I am actively considering moving after approaching 25 years of living locally
2. The loss of public amenity linked to the fencing in of a massive area of publicly accessible land
3. The visual impact for residents and visitors of the industrialisation of the countryside
4. The impact on the collective mental health and well-being of those living within what stands to be one of the largest and most pervasive collection of solar installations in the UK
5. The negative consequences, taking account of longer term global trends, of substituting agricultural land for a highly inefficient form of energy generation
6. The all too modest and ill thought through approach to community benefit associated with a development of this scale and the blight it will bring to the life of local people

Kindest
