Hi there- i was walking my dog this morning and found the compulsory purchase notice across the road from my house.

Does this mean the campaign has failed?

I'm sorry, I wanted to object, I read through the papers, but it was too difficult for me to understand.

After seeing this sign today- I can't stop crying. I'm [REDACTED] and this was my only safe space. I'm thinking now that I'm just going to be overrun with people, trucks and machines... I don't think I can live with that. I'll have to move.

So is this final?

Or is there anything (simple to understand)

That I can do...

Best Wishes
