

Solar panels should be erected on top of buildings such as warehouses, other industrial units, car parks etc or on waste land but not on prime farmland in agricultural use. There are plenty of such places available; open countryside should not be destroyed by them. It is as simple as that.