

I believe that the ExA has visited has already visited the northern sector using public accesses. I would however strongly recommend that the team should visit Hordley House since this is the only way to understand the severe effects the proposed scheme would have on this historic house. The Inspector has already made pertinent comments on it but a visit will underline those views.

At the same time he could visit the area round Sansoms Platt as requested by Tim Sumner