I continue to strongly object against this proposal.

Throughout the period from the initial consultation to the final submission deadline there has, in my opinion, been a lack of openness, an unwillingness to respond to issues, a lack of sound information and questionable assessments and assumptions.

Living close to the airport, I am particularly concerned that there has been a lack of engagement and that safety concerns have not been addressed.

Despite repeated requests from the examiners the applicant has failed to provide a robust assessment of the visual impact of the project, or how close it will be to individual properties. Instead they are now seeking to delay this until after consent has been granted, which cannot be allowed.

Information required by the Planning Inspectorate is still missing and questions unanswered. In these circumstances, there cannot be sufficient information on which to base a decision and the application should be rejected.
