Dear Planning Inspectorate,

As a resident of Cassington I am writing to object yet again to this proposed scheme to build a massive solar panel farm on the agricultural land around this area of west Oxfordshire and Cassington in particular. It is unbelievable that a scheme that has been so poorly prepared is even still under consideration.

Throughout the process, the applicant has failed to provide enough information to satisfy others that the scheme is viable and plausible. They simply have not done enough work in so many areas, and having failed to answer so many key questions they have even asked for more time, and that request has been rejected. Surely the time is now here to throw out this application altogether, for everyone's benefit. Perhaps the applicant too would be relieved to put an end to this.

Of particular concern to many residents of Cassington is the applicant's failure to produce a satisfactory Residential Visual Amenity Assessment, as well as major concerns about the lack of assessment of flooding risks for the village.

Yours faithfully,

Dr John Hemingway
