Dear Secretary of State,

I am very concerned to learn that the developers (PVDP) are considering making substantial new submissions, this week, far beyond the already extended dead-line of June 9th.

All the other Interested Parties have respected the dead-lines set out during the Examination Process. You commented, yourself, when refusing the developers yet more extended time, that, to do so, would "risk undermining confidence in, and the integrity of, the planning process".

I respectfully request that you should not accept submissions of new material from the Applicant at this late stage.

Yours sincerely'
Susan Oldfield
