Dear Sirs,

My ref. reg. no. [REDACTED]

It is understood that the applicants are now contemplating a revised or new application. This can only be because it has become clear to them that the original application is deeply flawed and that the applicants failed to respond to so many questions within the time limits which all other parties have achieved.

I have spent a lot of time and effort responding in good time, as have so many others, to the requests from the Planning Inspectorate. I do not see why any exception should be considered.

Bearing in mind that this contravenes the final response deadline set by the SOS of 9th June and refusal to extend. To ignore the ruling would set a dangerous precedent.

I trust that the SOS will not overlook the reputational loss which is likely to occur if the application is not refused.

Yours faithfully,
