

I would like to question the reasoning to why my house which is an historical asset - Grade 2 listed building does not appear on any of the detailed maps? I will be surrounded by BESS which will be 200-300 metres from my property along with 3m high solar panels which will be across the road from my entrance at a distance of less than 20metres away. Both of these will significantly impact my property and well being with a massive drop in value. Along with the amount of noise, disturbance and dust whilst the site is being constructe and beyond. My building is 230 years old and is not built on any foundations, therefore will suffer significantly while construction and traffic takes place. My views will be decimated. I feel that the project is far too close to my property especially considering its historical value.
