1 Introduction

Table 1 details the full list of sensitive receptors used in the assessment. The receptors have been grouped by agglomeration for ease of reference within the main report, alongside a reference of whether they fall under the study area of noise impacts associated with the construction & decommissioning phases, operational (including maintenance) phase impacts or both.

The table should be read in conjunction with ES Volume 3, Figure 12.1: Study area for noise - Construction and Decommissioning [EN010157/APP/6.3] and ES Volume 3, Figure 12.2: Study Area for Noise - Operation (including maintenance) [EN010157/APP/6.3].

Since the removal of Land Area A from the Order Limits, as detailed in ES Volume 1, Chapter 4: Alternatives and Design Iteration [EN010157/APP/6.1], it is noted that a number of sensitive receptors previously considered for assessment in the Preliminary Environmental Information Report are consequently in excess of 800m from any noise-producing elements expected during the operation (including maintenance) phase of the Proposed Development and a minimum of 300m from the Order Limits when considering the construction and decommissioning phases of the Proposed Development. Therefore, these sensitive receptors fall outside of the respective study areas for the operation (including maintenance) phase and the construction and decommissioning phases.

Note that only receptors with a sensitivity category of 'medium' or 'high' have been identified.
