

The increased heavy goods traffic will have a major effect on the whole area, an area which has already suffered greatly through the offensive of both EWR and HS2. It has been massively scarred by both of these major infrastructure projects and it is time that the area was left alone to heal.

It will also, no doubt, have a considerable impact on how local people get around with road closures - something which we have already been suffering from for some time and which is still a massive inconvenience to us all.

Not only will the impact of this ridiculous and wasteful proposal wreak havoc on our countryside and wildlife, but footpaths and bridleways will also be wiped out leaving the locals with less options of where to walk and ride.

It has already been shown in other parts of the country that a BESS is likely to create fire and safety hazards and it is unfair to put this extra burden on our already depleted fire and emergency services in the area.

I object to this proposal completely and utterly in the interest of all local people. This is land that should be left to farming, not scarring it with unsightly and frankly fairly useless solar panels and accompanying storage facilities.
