

Where we live will be massively impacted by the additional traffic movement during construction. The roads aren't fit for purpose at the moment, let alone what dozens of extra HGV movements will bring. I'm also concerned about an increase in noise, of both construction and vehicle movement.

We are dog owners and I'm concerned the work site will mean footpaths/bridleways, rights of way will be closed and dangerous to navigate.

I'm concerned about the impact on existing wildlife in the area.

Add all this together and the existing impact of the ill thought out HS2 shambles, our lives will be a misery for years to come
