

The application to install Solar panels on the current sites is not well considered. The agricultural land is of food producing quality and would be wasted by these plans. As a keen runner, the extra traffic on the country lanes would pose a higher risk to myself and all the other people I see on many different routes. The people behind these plans are happy to be at a distance from the local people who will be affected. Pots of money for improvements is loose and will not compensate for the stress and damage to the local environment it will cause.
