

I am supportive of expanding solar but not on prime agricultural land when so much brownfield land exists and many roof tops and warehousing could accommodate.

The scale of the solar farm is too close to the villages and will occupy and surround all access roads to Mears Ashby which has a conservation area for 90% of the village. The surrounding roads are not wide enough to accommodate construction traffic for parking or turning

I think the scale needs to be cut back and more adequate native screening proposed

Noise and disruption and delays on the roads will be of severe impact to the village
