

I am against this huge development of good farming land to house solar panels mainly because they will change the look of our beautiful countryside almost forever. ESPECIALLY since Northamptonshire is the second most full of warehouses in the UK, yet none of them are forced to have a solar panel on their roofs. Wasted opportunity to achieve cheap solar energy and leaves our farmland to produce food on. In addition, there will need to be big battery storage parks built to house the electricity, one just up the road from me again on good farmland. 90 shipping containers full of batteries as well as these solar panels!!! Every which way we look will be ugly, and our lifestyles will be impacted. Run off will devastate not just our tench fishing for which we are one of the top in the uk, but it could affect the open water swimming at Sywell reservoir into which the brook runs.

We are a square village with NO PAVEMENTS TO ANYWHERE! Which means we all have to drive to get outside the village. We have zero choice to walk. Yet the roadworks associated with this development and the battery storage park too, will mean HUGE delays for us who are already quite cut off as a community. It's just a bit unfair that our tiny village is having to take such a hefty amount of upheaval, for not benefit to us personally. Yet the warehouse owners who use much more energy are getting off pretty scot free. Please reconsider this. If you lived here you'd be saying the same!
