Dear Sir

I have no objections to a solar factory in the area but NOT of the massive size proposed. A few fields maybe and preferably not prime agricultural land at a time we should be increasing our food production so we don't have to rely on imports which can be variable and unreliable.

An area of that size not only ruins the views of the countryside, it will increase the ambient temperatures in the area, which we have seen recently are already too high on a regular basis.

Please restrict the size of this proposal if it is allowed at all – wind farms are best offshore and solar factories should be restricted to rooftops and brownfield sites.

Regards

Rosemary Arnold
