Sir

While I have nothing against solar factories in general, I do have an objection to Greenhill Solar Factory due to its size. It will have an overbearing effect on the local area / residents. It is just too damn big, taking away the amenity value of the countryside and some currently productive farmland. Solar Factories should be restricted to unproductive land, brownfield sites and places like the roofs of factories or car parks.

I hope this will have absolutely no effect on your decision, but that's my viewpoint

Best regards
