

I live in the relevant South Norfolk area - a once beautiful and ancient rural area dating back to Roman times and beyond. The proposed and likely forced by this despotic Labour Government has not taken into account how we will be able to feed ourselves once they have 'stolen' all the very productive farming land. The company they've chosen to wreck our land in the 'bonkers' race to take this country down to the very bottom economically have questionable credentials anyway. Have they no desire for our country to be successful and retain our beautiful countryside for future generations. Their behaviour suggests otherwise. Shame on them! Carole Bryant
