

I would like the Inspector to understand the considerable burden that this examination has placed upon residents. Many people have spent months trying to navigate highly technical documentation, repeatedly seeking answers to legitimate questions and attempting to understand complex proposals which so often are difficult to follow.. the stress, anxiety and impact on health and well-being experienced by us residents should not be underestimated. The frustration experienced by residents regarding the way information has been presented by the applicant and the difficulties experienced in obtaining clear and transparent answers together with the fact that a substantial amount of residents are unable to even tackle this and provision has not been made to rectify this. At the Open evenings at our Village Halls we were often fed wrong or misleading information yet that was all many residents had to go on. . The implications of this development has caused great distress and many sleepless nights with the enormity of the challenge of this application and the change it will bring about .Most people have to deal with this when they have returned from their normal days work. Already it has been over two years with the prospect of it continuing for longer the inspector must take into account that residents are seeing their way of life changed forever with an enormous impact on wildlife and food production, which is what this area is all about. We are already seeing that this scheme is putting a blight on homes here in South Norfolk with residents plans to move or future plans for retirement being affected and of course adding to the stress and despair felt by so many of us. I hope the inspector can understand the real change this application will make to the well-being of the residents and our country way of life for which we are fighting so hard. It is precious to us and has implications for the future generations and even for the future of our world.