

I am concerned about anticipated damage, two listed properties, including mine and a conservation area by the construction of the site and ongoing activity, by the destruction of food producing land, potentially becoming industrialised and lessening this country's self-sufficiency, and by the loss of lovely and well used countryside and foot paths. I would not wish to use paths through the panels, for reasons of vulnerability, and because such paths would not provide emotional or mental health benefits. Fewer people would cycle in the area, for the same reasons, all resulting in a loss of health benefits. Wildlife would inevitably be damaged. I am concerned for myself, but also for the children of today and of the future. It would be long-term damage, for the sake of short-term personal profit for those seeking to install the panels. Village and surrounding area would lose their rural character and peace.
