

To the East Pye Planning Inspectorate, of 2pm meeting on Tuesday 23rd September 2026.

The chair of the Inspectorate asked me to submit evidence as to the dykes and flooding in Saxlingham Nethergate. Please see attached photograph number 1, showing river bed under the road near the war memorial (taken with back towards war memorial and Church hill on the right). If the dykes are filled in, as is intended by East Pye in order to widen the road, this river bed will become even more flooded than it already does. See photograph number 2 taken from the same position, where flooding is shown despite having well maintained dykes. The road is very thin going over the river bed. The AIL's intend to come down this road, which is not strong enough.

Photograph number 3 (facing the direction towards [REDACTED]) shows where the street passes over a dyke; indicated by the white railings. The road is also very thin at this point. The AIL's intend to come down this road too.

The Inspectorate also asked me to submit evidence of our house, [REDACTED] See photograph number 4. Our house is high up and could have its foundations destabilised by the weight and vibrations caused by the passing AILs. He also asked for a sketch of where our house is - see photograph number 5.

The Inspectorate also asked me to submit photographic evidence showing where we have had two Anglian Water burst pipes caused by normal vehicles passing by and one oil tanker falling into a manhole.

Please see photograph number 6 taken January 2026 (facing towards The street) showing the burst water pipe and just how near the the water meter is to the road . The photo clearly shows where vehicles drive onto the verge , despite bollards further down. Near the entrance to our drive you can see a concrete cover covering the manhole where the oil tanker fell in. Photograph number 6 has an x showing where our water meter is located. I must point out that our road is no different to anybody else's . The AIL's intend to come down here also.

I would plead with the Applicant to reconsider the AIL's not coming through Saxlingham Nethergate.
