

Thanet has very little space where nature can flourish. It has been decimated by build, build, build policies. It is an area of deprivation, yet this 'brown field' area has been reclaimed by nature and now offers solice to raw nerves for people and nature which will be lost if this is allowed to go ahead. These decisions will have on-goin effects for generations to come. Please protect thus area.