

I object to this project. I use this area weekly to walk. My partner and I do this together and it is a great way to reconnect after a hard week dealing with the trials and tribulations that life throws at us. We tend to get a lot done during our walks and we enjoy watching the wildlife all around us. On a personal level the mental reset this area gives is most welcome. I often leave the area feeling refreshed and ready to tackle whatever I need to be achieve with an invigorated point of view. Please do not take this away.
