

Cumulative impact is huge and must be considered before it is too late. The region is facing years of destruction. We have serious doubts as to whether such massive disruption is even necessary? Has this been fully researched and checked? Where is the evidence?