

I am writing to appeal again urgently to whoever has the power to stop National Grid from taking the beautiful rewilded old Hoverport site at Pegwell Bay for their own totally profit driven purpose! This site is so amazing in the fact that against the odds Nature has taken back what was once taken from it and covered in concrete. Over 3 decades this place has become a wonderful Wildlife Haven with plants growing tall and thriving where concrete alone once lay. It is now a home to many wild creatures that shelter there. Thanet has been built on at an unprecedented level over recent years and our wildlife pushed out from the fields they once lived on. The wildlife and the people of Thanet need to keep the Hoverport as a wonderful place where they can get away from this overcrowded isle. Nature has to have a place to live and shelter to.
