

I am a resident near Minster Marshes and Pegwell Bay. National Grid/Sealink have not even contemplated the real destruction this project will cause. This is a Marsh, that migratory birds depend on when moving from Pegwell Bay. It is a designated SSSI site. There are many birds on the endangered list. There is an area being cleared (which, surprise, happens to be the site for the Converter Station). This supposedly is for archaeology research, but there is no evidence that this is taking place. An utter disgrace. The Nemo project was left in a destructive state. Are you deliberately ignoring over 4 thousand people from Save Minster Marshes. Offering monetary bribes to nearby residents. SIR ROGER GALE MP has stated in Parliament his utter misbelief of the way National Grid is behaving. This area is so important to the wildlife, forna, migratory/endangered Birds. It cannot be replaced by pathetic mitigation that has been proposed. Enormous, more Pylons proposed which have already caused death to Swans and other flocking birds. A total disgrace, all to line shareholders pockets. This is my view and many others. Why are you ignoring us. Total cost has increase three times and probably more. Another HSL situation. Not by my taxes.
