

Ordinary people have no chance against this bulldozed madcap scheme, that has never really considered any other option other than massive pylons, which would destroy people's way of life and livelihood. It would also provide a dangerous hazard for migrating geese, red kites, buzzards and other birds and also destroy countless mature trees and hedgerows at a time when we should be protecting it more than ever.