

The pylons would be just another blow to our countryside and the wildlife therein. This scar on the landscape will be despised by the vast majority of the residents of East Anglia.