

I object to the laying of such a pipeline near residential areas and through the countryside with the risk it carries. The owner has proven to be very average on routine maintenance of its infrastructure leading to multiple incidents of failure at the refinery over the years, I've lived in the area for decades and seen or heard it all. I'm not convinced it will be any different with this pipeline.