Dear Ms Kopala

I have read the response that my neighbour [REDACTED] Ramsgate has recently submitted to you and can honestly not better it except to say that I was here when Manston was operating as an airport.

It was not pleasant. Apart from the noise factor, the fact that our very air was polluted whether we liked it or not for the sake of other people's profit was distressing.

Ramsgate is trying so hard to improve itself on ground level. Small businesses have opened (despite great odds) in an effort to improve the lives of the locals as well as to attract visitors.

There is no way that the afore mentioned pollution and noise is going to attract visitors. We are to find ways to heal our fragile world. Opening a new airport surely is not the way. Please make a stand and be brave enough to reconsider.

Thank you very much

Alison Burke
