Robert Muir,

Dear Sir/Madam,

Thank you for your letter of November 16th.

Given the noise that the Government and others are making about climate change and pollution it is incredulous that the Minister should even be contemplating reopening Manston Airport.

Here in Thanet and in particular the environs around the derelict Airport site thousands of houses are about to be built. To have a highly polluting Airport plonk in the middle of them would be a extreme act of folly.

It would be more much more beneficial to the inhabitants of Thanet if this enormous brown field site was used for the construction of houses social housing in particular that are badly needed in this area.

Yours Sincerely,
