Good morning

It has been brought to my attention that West Midlands Interchange has requested to alter their original plan and build extra warehouse buildings before they complete the original interchange that was in the original documents. WMI have previously allowed local residents to attend meetings where they denied any plans to do this. It is now a fear of residents that they have been lied to and there is no intention of the railway hub being built.

Over the period of building the current site we have been subjected to extra dirt and dust covering vehicles and, due to this, a fear of air pollution coming from the site. Aside from this we also have extra noise and traffic pollution from a solar farm being built on the other side of Coven and an extra small housing estate being built in the middle of the village. Extra to this is the application of another small housing estate at the other end of the village. These villages are very small communities in rural places and I am asking if you would consider refusing the plan for WMI to build more warehouses before the completion of the interchange.

Best Wishes

Clare Edwards
